ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS TO THE RICE PLANTER

Volume 17 Issue 4 James E. Williams

(4th generation)

Ackerman Claude Williams and Cecile Patrick were married on May 01 1927.

THE JOHN S. JONES FAMILY

We are going to dedicate the next several issues of The Rice Planter to the John S. Jones Family. Foster Jones was a member of the Old St. Bartholomew Genealogical Chapter and did extensive research on his Jones Heritage. Foster Lamar Jones was born Apr 10 1936 he died Jan 08 2007. We are proud to be able to share the first four generations of this research with you.

Generation One

1. John S. Jones, born about 1795 in Colleton County, SC (son of Joseph Jones and Unknown Flowers), died about 1843 in Colleton County, SC, buried in Cross Swamp Methodist Church, Islandton, SC. The furthest Foster Jones could prove by land records was the ownership by John S. and Elizabeth Broxton Jones. When John S died in 1842, the property was divided up to his sons: Joseph, James R., John S.B., Robert and Jesse.

Being that Robert and Jesse were both minors, Robert came under the guardianship of Joseph and Jesse came under the guardianship of James R. The bulk of the property was kept by the widow, Elizabeth, including most of the family slaves.

Elizabeth died around the time of the onset of the war of northern aggression and Jesse was killed in the battle of Franklin, Tennessee. James R, being the executor of the estate of his mother and brother, lived on their portion of the John S. Jones Estate. Some of James' descendants still live on part of the original property. The property is located on Willow Swamp Road where Blue Goose Lane turns off. Most of the property was lost in the confiscation and re-distribution during reconstruction.
